DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-49 and 105, drawn to a process of manufacturing a polysaccharide-containing material.

Group II, claim(s) 50-101, drawn to a composition comprising polysaccharide-containing material and a polysaccharide binding domain.

Group III, claim(s) 102, drawn to a polysaccharide binding domain coupler including at least two covalently coupled polysaccharide binding domains.

Group IV, claim(s) 103 and 104, drawn to a nucleic acid construct encoding a fusion protein including at least two polysaccharide binding domains.

The inventions listed as Groups I-IV do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The only feature common to all groups is the presence of or something related to at least one polysaccharide binding domain (PBD). Groups III and IV involve at least two PBDs, but Group III requires covalent attachment, and Group IV does not. Groups I and II require only one PBD, and they both require it in proximity with polysaccharide-containing material. However, this is not a novel feature contributed by Applicant. KILBURN et al

Art Unit: 1623

(US 5,137,819 – submitted by Applicant) discloses a PBD, per se, and in combination with polysaccharide-containing material. See abstract.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In Groups I and II, dependent claims 11-42 and 57-88, respectively, recite the PBD in terms of a covalent modification. If either of these groups is selected, Applicant is required to select a particular modification from these claims to start the search.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: All of the species are drawn to covalently modified PBDs. However, KILBURN et al (US 5,340,731) discloses the preparation of covalently modified PBDs. See col 6-7.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
